

37 years old mum of three, POLLY HAYDOCK, was diagnosed with terminal cancer in July this year. The only treatment available to her from the NHS is Chemotherapy which would give her a poor quality of life during the few months she has left. Research by Polly and her family and friends has found a clinic in Germany using more targeted treatments that would give her a better chance of survival. However, this is very costly (upwards of £250k.), hence the need to raise as much money as possible very quickly. All Polly's friends are rallying round in a determined effort to help her achieve her wish.

Please come along to a fund-raising event which is being held to raise as much money as possible for POLLY HAYDOCK♥.
